

Stand with us.

House of Longevity is building a team of ambassadors.
Eight kinds of people. One of them is you.

House of Longevity. Ambassador program, 2026.

The premium Australian longevity clinic.

Doctor-led. Built for people who take the long game seriously.

We don't want a billboard face.

We want people who already live this way, with a crowd that trusts them.

Eight roles. Different crowds. One standard.

Eight roles. One team.

Some roles will have a few voices, some just one. Every one matters. Tap a face to find yours.

01
Retired pro

02
Elite coach

03
Strength voice

04
Founder

05
FIFO voice

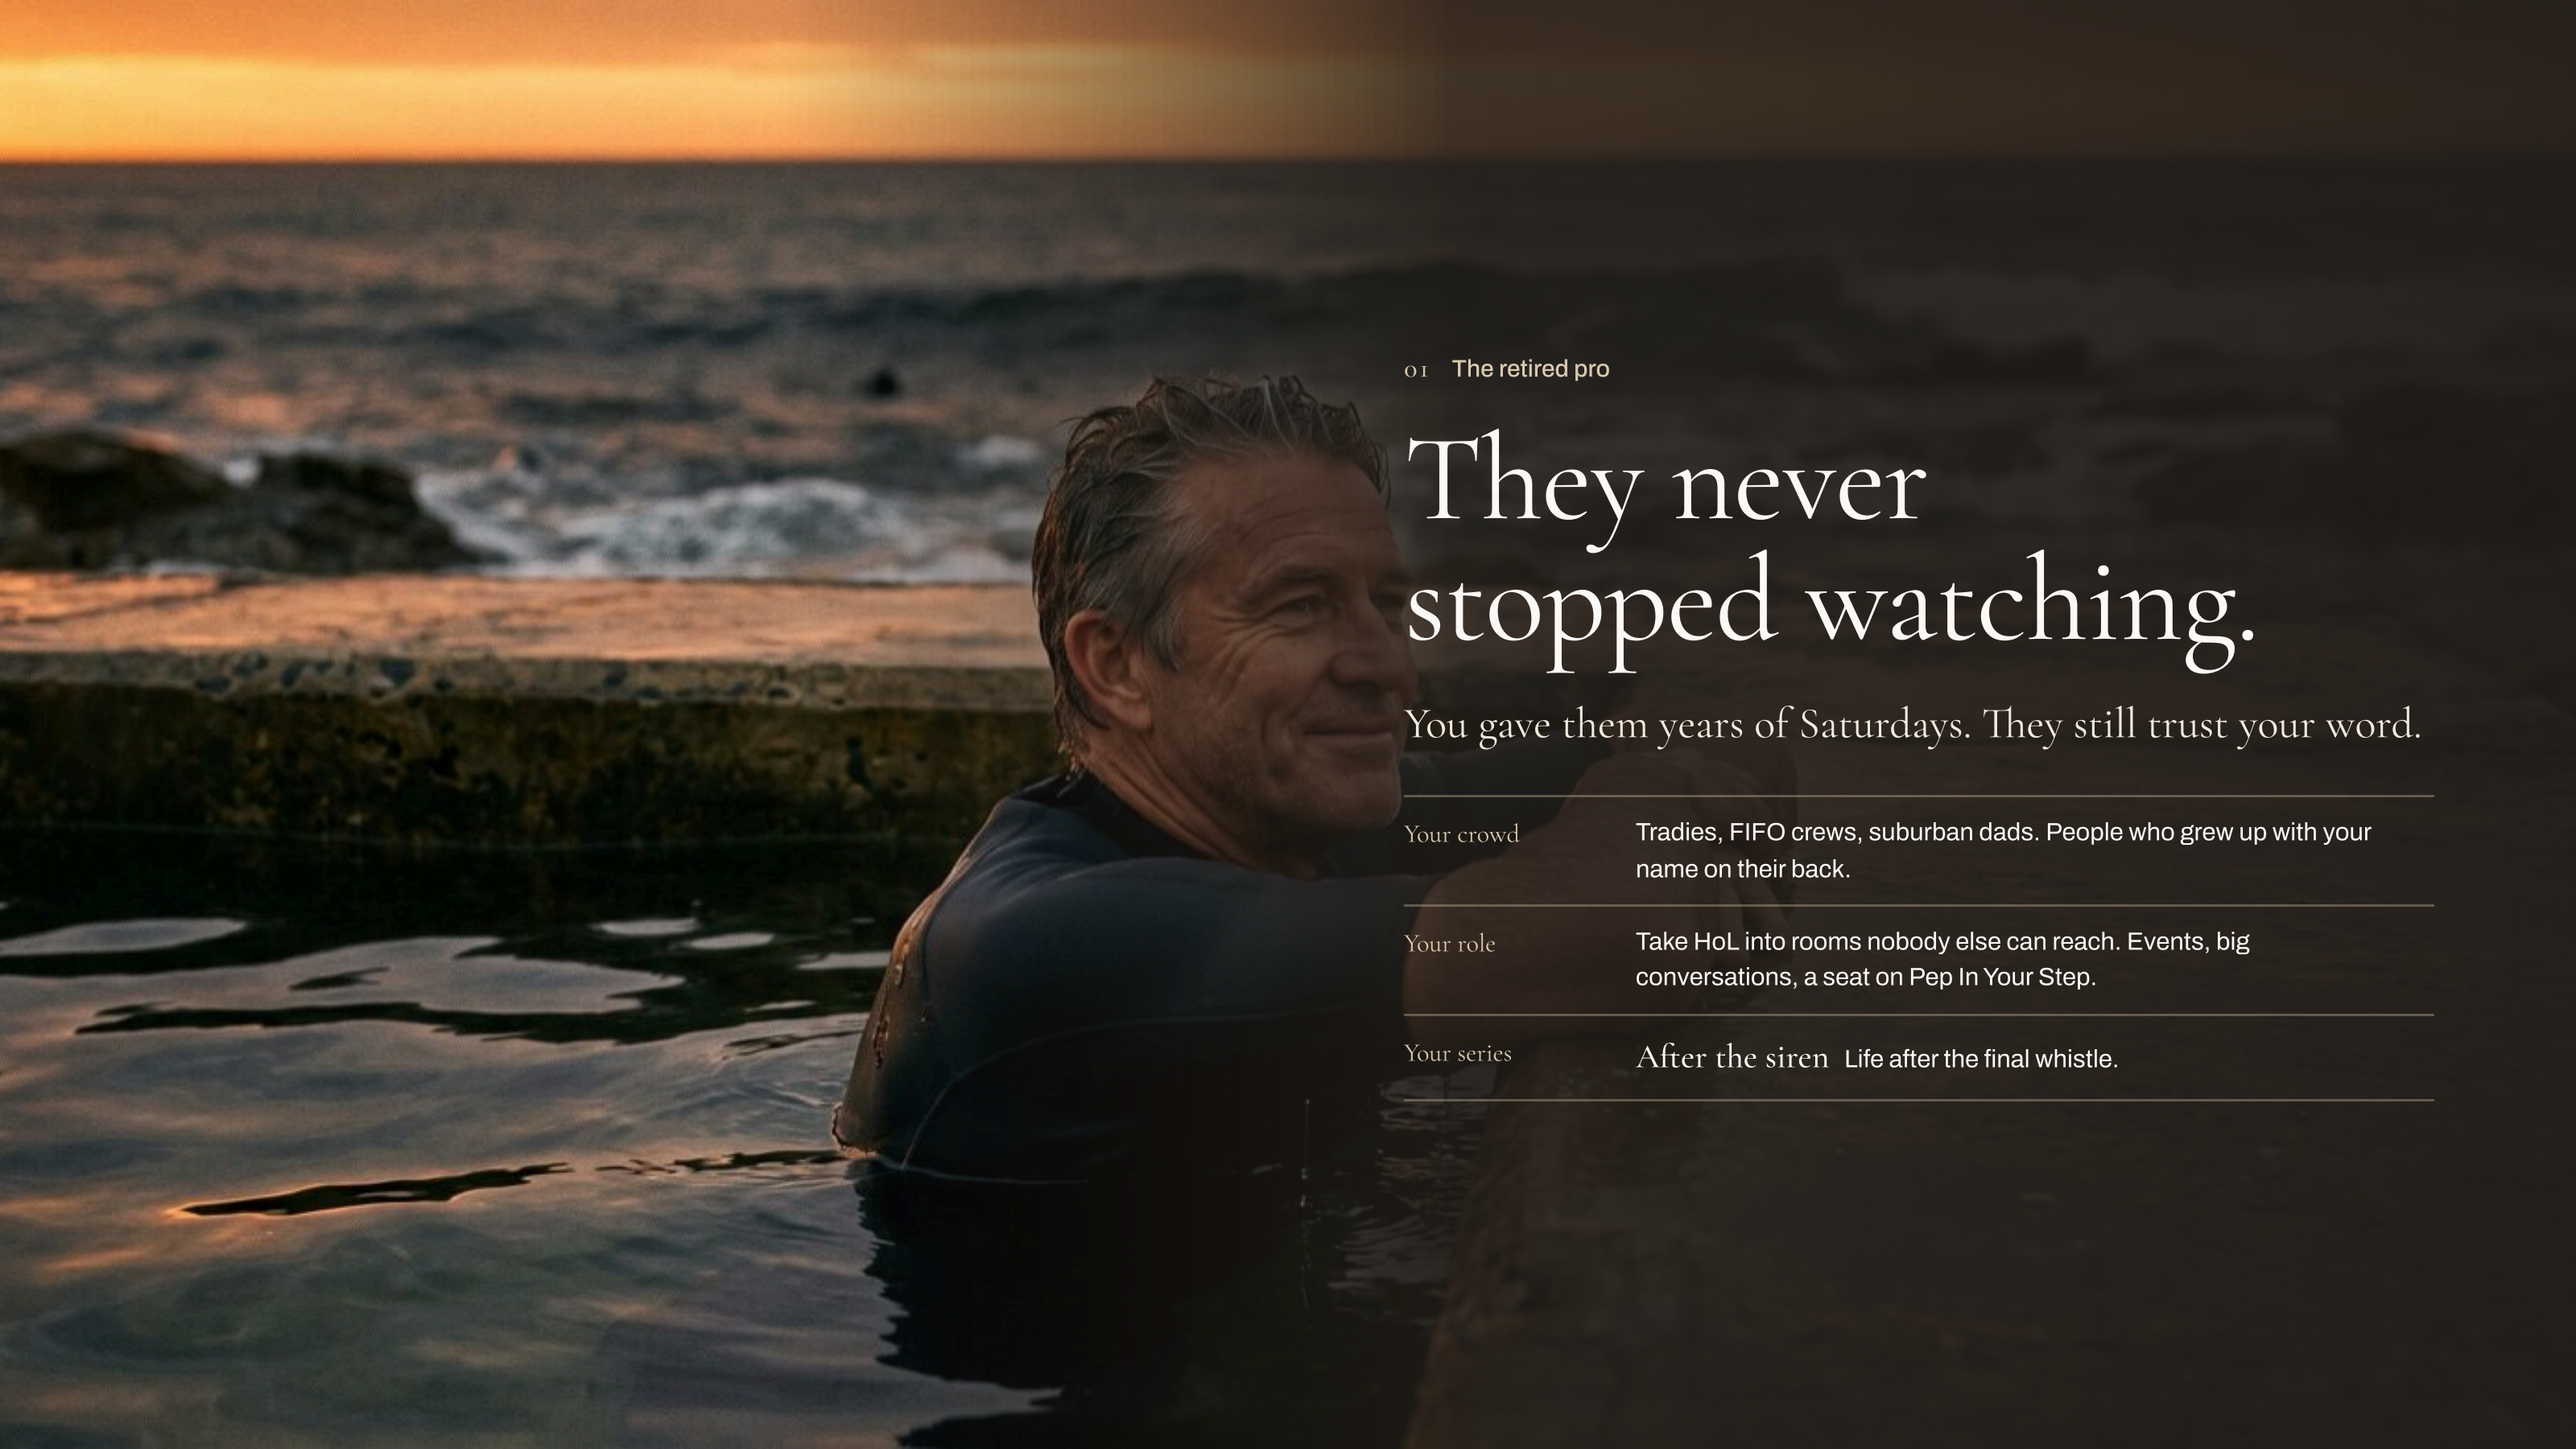

06
Endurance athlete

07
Lifestyle curator

08
Longevity optimiser

01 The retired pro

They never stopped watching.

You gave them years of Saturdays. They still trust your word.

Your crowd	Tradies, FIFO crews, suburban dads. People who grew up with your name on their back.
Your role	Take HoL into rooms nobody else can reach. Events, big conversations, a seat on Pep In Your Step.
Your series	After the siren Life after the final whistle.

Illustrative image

02 The elite coach

You see the ceiling first.

Your people already invest in their bodies. You're the voice they listen to.

Your crowd	Athletes, executives and talent who already pay for the best.
Your role	Bring your craft: your floor, your methods, your thinking. We bring the doctors.
Your series	Session notes What you're seeing on the floor this week.

03 The strength voice

Strong in the boardroom. Strong under the bar.

You talk straight about strength, work and family. Women listen because you live it.

Your crowd	Professional women running careers, households and their own training.
Your role	Show what strong looks like in midlife, and lead the conversation alongside our doctors.
Your series	Barbell and board pack Heavy lifts. Heavier weeks.

Illustrative image

04 The founder

You build for the long game. So do we.

People follow how you think, how you lead and how you hold your standards.

Your crowd	Founders, CEOs and senior operators with zero time to waste.
Your role	Help shape HoL as it grows. Your thinking, written into our founding story.
Your series	Hard Tuesday Leading when the week bites back.

05 The FIFO voice

Your crew trusts you more than any ad.

Early starts, long swings, the flight home. You know the roster because you live it.

Your crowd	FIFO crews, tradies and site workers right across the country.
Your role	Be the familiar face. HoL is already on 166 screens across 60 mine sites. You make it human.
Your series	Swing diary Life on roster, one swing at a time.

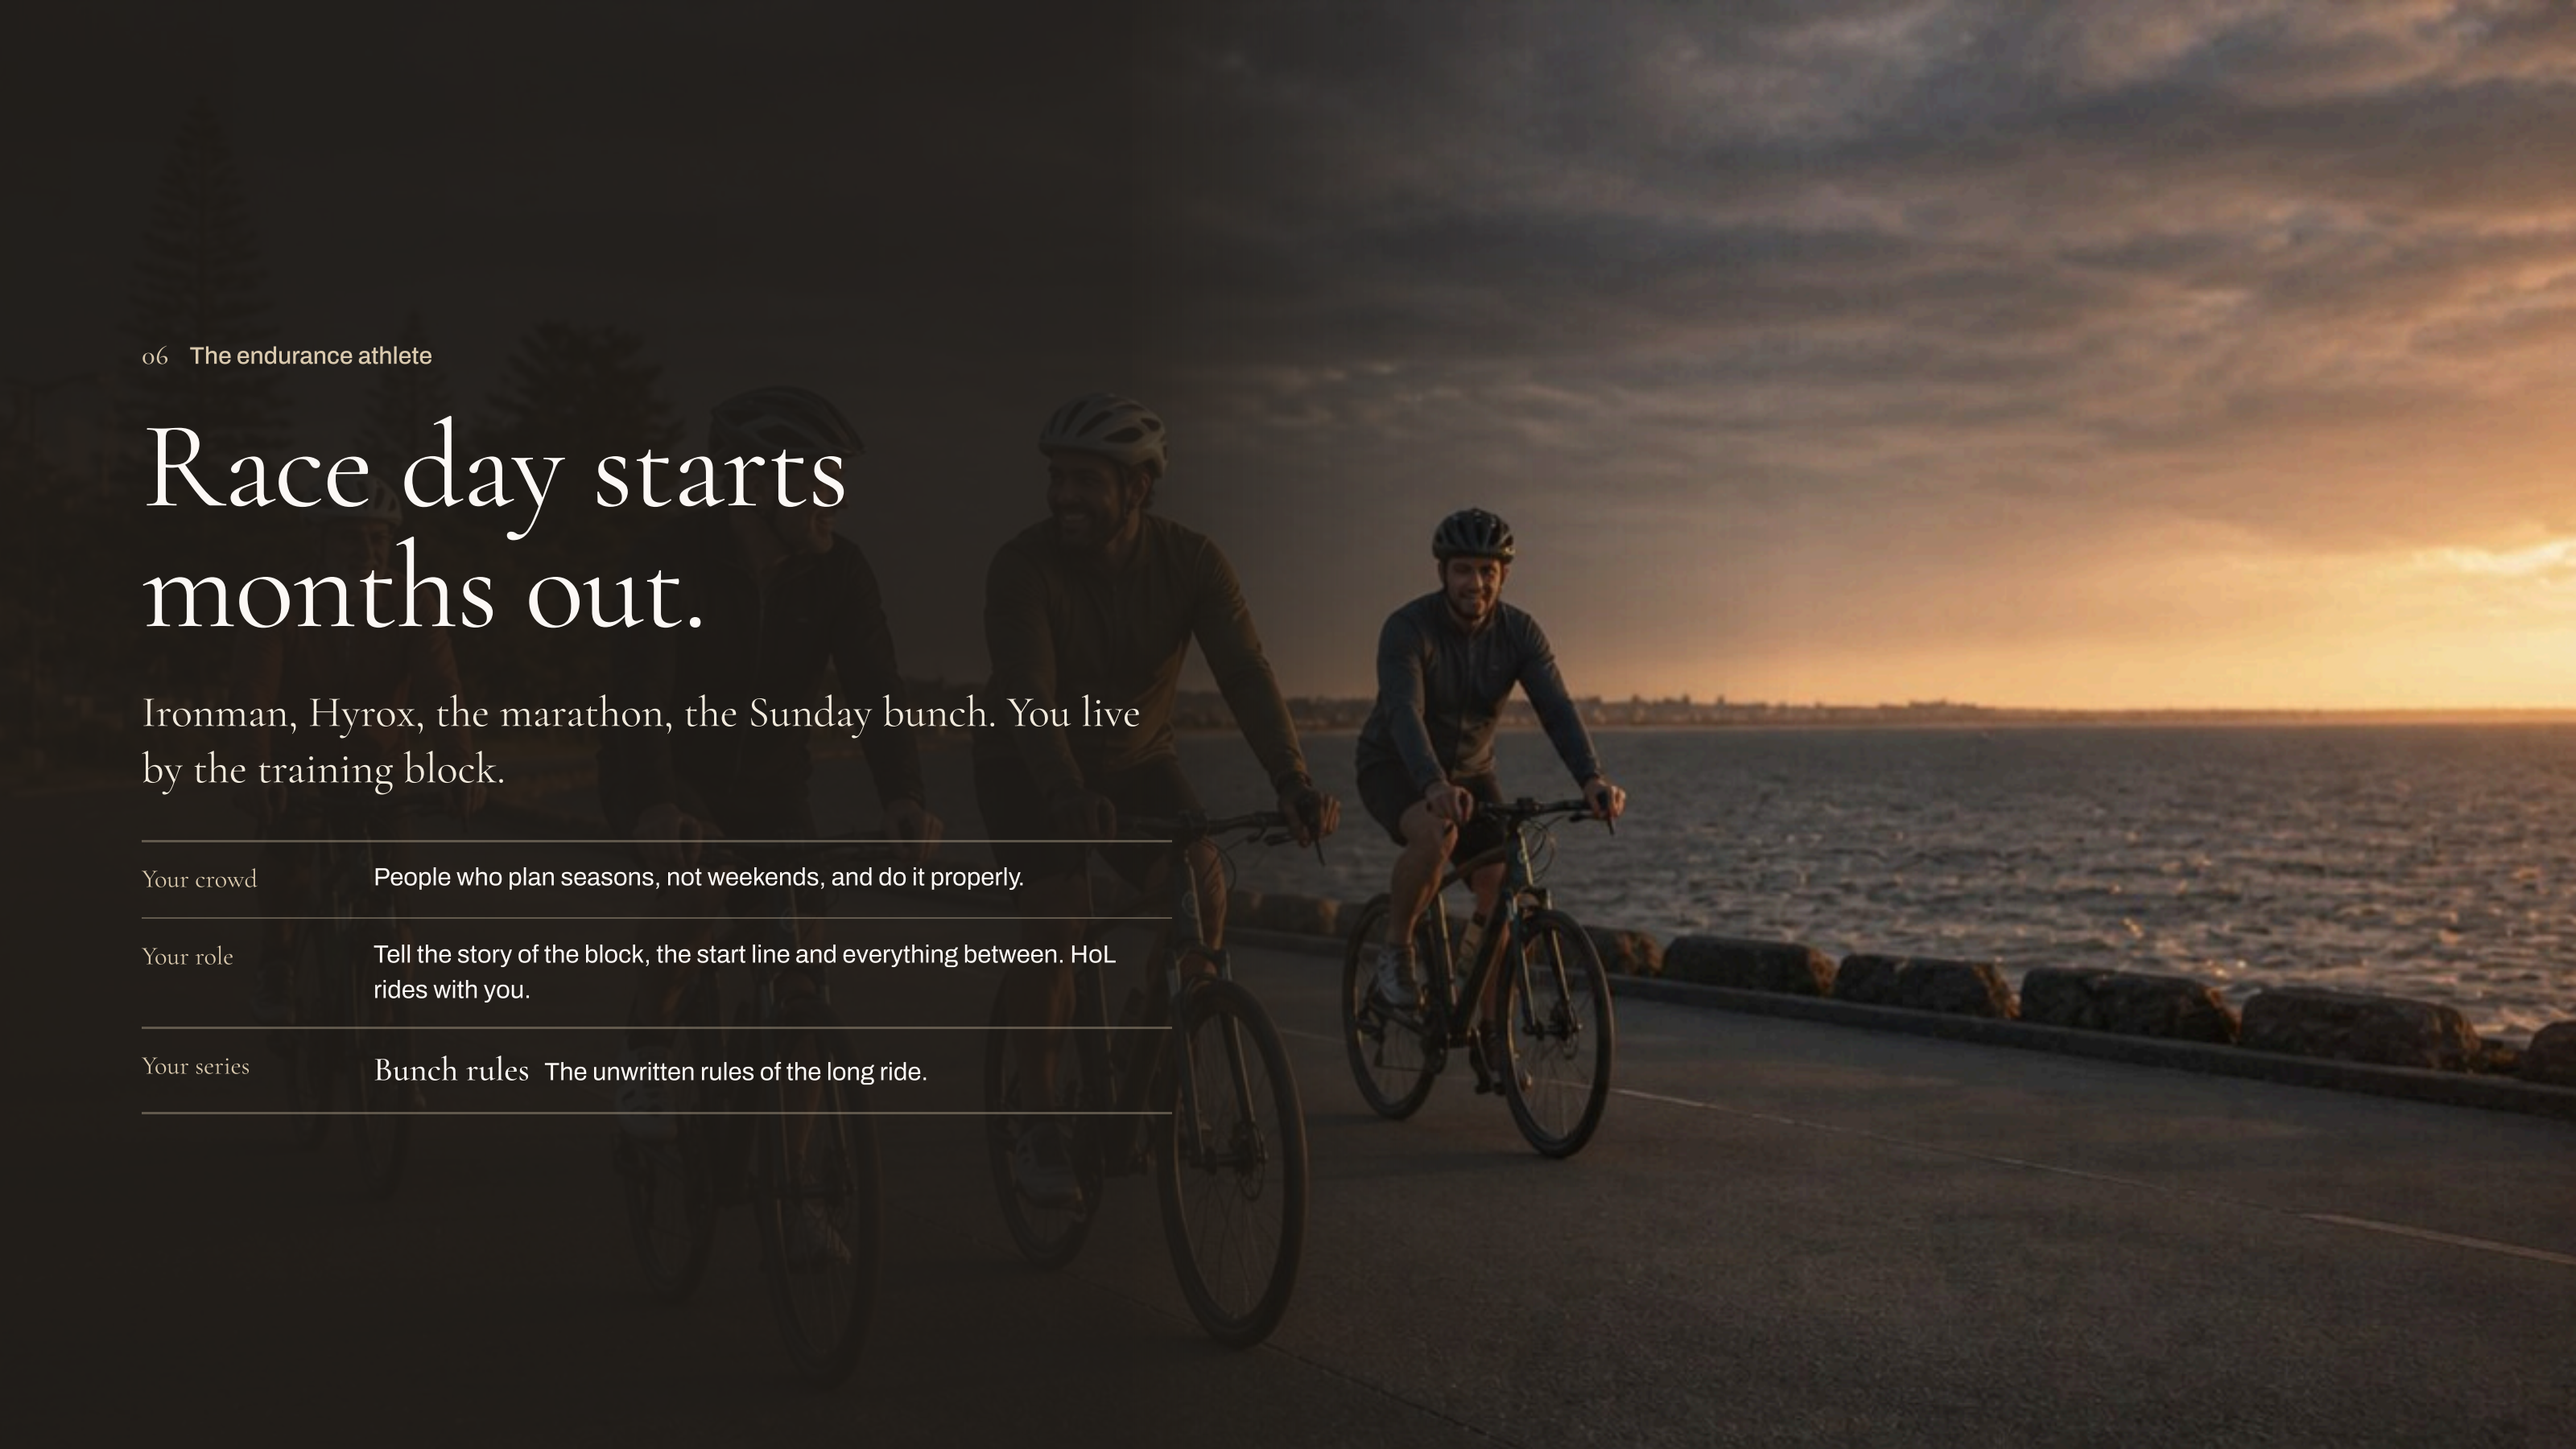

Illustrative image

06 The endurance athlete

Race day starts months out.

Ironman, Hyrox, the marathon, the Sunday bunch. You live by the training block.

Your crowd	People who plan seasons, not weekends, and do it properly.
Your role	Tell the story of the block, the start line and everything between. HoL rides with you.
Your series	Bunch rules The unwritten rules of the long ride.

07 The lifestyle curator

You set the table. People come.

Retreats, venues, long lunches, early swims. You know how to make a place feel right.

Your crowd	People who travel well, eat well and choose carefully where they spend their time.
Your role	Host. Long tables and morning swims, with HoL in the room.
Your series	Long table Good food, good people, the long view.

Illustrative image

08 The longevity optimiser

You were here before it had a name.

Sleep, recovery, heat, cold. You've been tracking it for years.

Your crowd	Early adopters who speak the language of longevity and want it done properly.
Your role	Show your crowd what doing it right looks like: doctor-led, evidence first.
Your series	Dawn log The morning routine, done properly.

See yourself in here?

Then let's talk. The next step is a conversation.

How we work together

Always upfront. Every post says we're partners.

Your story, not your chart. No one talks about their health or treatment, yours or anyone's.

Doctors do the medicine. You do what you do best.

HOUSE OF LONGEVITY

